HISTORIC AMERICAN BUILDINGS SURVEY

Albrecht and Josephine Greiner House

HABS No. PA-5765

Location: 902 Chestnut Street, Cambria City, Johnstown, Cambria County, Pa.

Description: No. 902 Chestnut Street faces southeast, on a corner lot with a retail building to one side. The building is roughly 25' x 23', wood-framed, covered with asphalt. The side-gable roof is covered with asphalt shingles. The building is two stories tall. The three-bay facade has a central entrance. The windows have small cornices supported by brackets. Three wooden steps lead from the entryway to the street.

History: No. 902 Chestnut Street was constructed in 1891, according to tax assessment records. Albrecht Greiner, a German stone mason, arrived in Cambria City in approximately 1882. He purchased the lot from Margaret P. McConaughy in November 1889 for $600. Greiner died sometime before 1900. His widow Josephine, her daughter and son-in-law (a paperhanger, name illegible), and her son, Benedict Greiner, a "crane runner" in the steel mill, lived here in 1910. The Bardar family has owned the building since 1927.

Project Information: This report was part of a larger project to document the city of Johnstown, Pennsylvania. The project was undertaken by the Historic American Buildings Survey/Historic American Engineering Record (HABS/HAER), Robert Kapsch, chief, at the request of America's Industrial Heritage Project (AIHP). An overview of history of the city (HABS No. PA-5669) and an overview of the neighborhoods of Cambria City and Minersville (HABS No. PA-5672) provide context for these buildings as well as a comprehensive list of sources. See also additional HABS reports on buildings in the downtown and other neighborhoods.

This report was prepared by Jeffrey Hickey in August 1988 under the direction of Alison K. Hoagland, HABS historian, and Kim E. Wallace, the supervisory historian of the project. Hickey's and other project historians' work was published as The Character of a Steel Mill City: Four Historic Neighborhoods of Johnstown, Pennsylvania (Washington, D.C.: HABS/HAER, National Park Service, 1989), edited by Kim E. Wallace. Illustrations in the publication include large format photographs taken by HAER photographer Jet Lowe and 35 mm photographs taken by the project historians.
